BEFORE THE TENNESSEE STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

IN RE:	Ronald & JoAnn Osborn Living Trust Dist. 7, Map 70B, Group A, Control Map 70B, Parcel 6 Residential Property Tax Year 2005	)) Grainger County)))

INITIAL DECISION AND ORDER

Statement of the Case

The subject property is presently valued as follows:

LAND VALUE	IMPROVEMENT VALUE	TOTAL VALUE	ASSESSMENT
$58,800	$ -0-	$58,800	$14,700

An appeal has been filed on behalf of the property owner with the State Board of Equalization. The undersigned administrative judge conducted a hearing in this matter on August 29, 2006 in Knoxville, Tennessee. In attendance at the hearing were Mr. and Mrs. Osborn, the appellants, and Grainger County Property Assessor, Johnny Morgan.

FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Subject property consists of an unimproved 1.39 acre lot located on Cherokee Lake on Linda Drive in Rutledge, Tennessee.

The taxpayers contended that subject property should be valued at $40,000. In support of this position, the taxpayers first argued that subject lot should not be appraised as a "lakefront" lot. According to the taxpayers, a "channel" runs behind subject property and lacks water for a significant portion of the year.

The taxpayers next contended that subject lot experiences a dimunition in value because over one-half of the lot constitutes TVA land that cannot be used to build a permanent structure. The taxpayers conceded that they were unsure whether the usable portion of the lot was sufficient for a dwelling.

The taxpayers' final argument concerned their belief that subject lot was inequitably appraised vis-à-vis their neighbor. The taxpayers noted that they pay $336 in taxes whereas their neighbor pays only $276 despite having a mobile home, a large deck and a horse corral.

The assessor contended that subject property should be valued at $40,000 - $50,000. In support of this position, the assessor introduced the August 11, 2006 sale of parcel 4 for $40,000.

The basis of valuation as stated in Tennessee Code Annotated Section 67-5-601(a) is that "[t]he value of all property shall be ascertained from the evidence of its sound, intrinsic and immediate value, for purposes of sale between a willing seller and a willing buyer without consideration of speculative values . . ."

After having reviewed all the evidence in the case, the administrative judge finds that the subject property should be valued at $45,000.

As will be discussed below, the administrative judge must respectfully find that neither party introduced sufficient evidence to reliably establish the value of subject property as of January 1, 2005, the relevant assessment date pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. § 67-5-504(a).

Since the taxpayer is appealing from the determination of the Grainger County Board of Equalization, the burden of proof is on the taxpayer. See State Board of Equalization Rule 0600-1-.11(1) and Big Fork Mining Company v. Tennessee Water Quality Control Board, 620 S.W.2d 515 (Tenn. App. 1981).

The administrative judge finds that the fair market value of subject property as of January 1, 2005 constitutes the relevant issue. The administrative judge finds that the Assessment Appeals Commission has repeatedly rejected arguments based upon the amount by which an appraisal has increased as a consequence of reappraisal. For example, the Commission rejected such an argument in E.B. Kissell, Jr. (Shelby County, Tax Years 1991 and 1992) reasoning in pertinent part as follows:

> The rate of increase in the assessment of the subject property since the last reappraisal or even last year may be alarming but is not evidence that the value is wrong. It is conceivable that values may change dramatically for some properties, even over so short of time as a year. . .
> The best evidence of the present value of a residential property is generally sales of properties comparable to the subject, comparable in features relevant to value. Perfect comparability is not required, but relevant differences should be explained and accounted for by reasonable adjustments. If evidence of a sale is presented without the required analysis of comparability, it is difficult or impossible for us to use the sale as an indicator of value. . . .

Final Decision and Order at 2. Similarly, the Commission has also repeatedly ruled that taxes are irrelevant to the issue of value. See, e.g. John C. & Patricia A. Hume (Shelby Co., Tax Year 1991).

The administrative judge finds merely reciting factors that could cause a dimunition in value does not establish the current appraisal exceeds market value. The administrative judge finds the Assessment Appeals Commission has ruled on numerous occasions that one must quantify the loss in value one contends has not been adequately considered. See, e.g., Fred & Ann Ruth Honeycutt (Carter Co., Tax Year 1995) wherein the Assessment Appeals Commission ruled that the taxpayer introduced insufficient evidence to quantify the loss in value from the stigma associated with a gasoline spill. The Commission stated in pertinent part as follows:

> The assessor conceded that the gasoline spill affected the value of the property, but he asserted that his valuation already reflects a deduction of 15% for the effects of the spill. . . . The administrative judge rejected Mr. Honeycutt's claim for an additional reduction in the taxable value, noting that he had not produced evidence by which to quantify the effect of the "stigma." The Commission finds itself in the same position. . . . Conceding that the marketability of a property may be affected by contamination of a neighboring property, we must have proof that allows us to quantify the loss in value, such as sales of comparable properties. . . Absent this proof here we must accept as sufficient, the assessor's attempts to reflect environmental condition in the present value of the property.

Final Decision and Order at 1-2. Similarly, in Kenneth R. and Rebecca L. Adams (Shelby Co., Tax Year 1998) the Commission ruled in relevant part as follows:

> The taxpayer also claimed that the land value set by the assessing authorities. . .was too high. In support of that position, she claimed that. . .the use of surrounding property detracted from the value of their property. . . . As to the assertion the use of properties has a detrimental effect on the value of the subject property, that assertion, without some valid method of quantifying the same, is meaningless.

Final Decision and Order at 2.

The administrative judge finds that the taxpayer's equalization argument must be rejected. The administrative judge finds that the April 10, 1984, decision of the State Board of Equalization in Laurel Hills Apartments, et al. (Davidson County, Tax Years 1981 and 1982), holds that "as a matter of law property in Tennessee is required to be valued and equalized according to the 'Market Value Theory'." As stated by the Board, the Market Value Theory requires that property "be appraised annually at full market value and equalized by application of the appropriate appraisal ratio . . ." Id. at 1.

The Assessment Appeals Commission elaborated upon the concept of equalization in Franklin D. & Mildred J. Herndon (Montgomery County, Tax Years 1989 and 1990) (June 24, 1991), when it rejected the taxpayer's equalization argument reasoning in pertinent part as follows:

> In contending the entire property should be appraised at no more than $60,000 for 1989 and 1990, the taxpayer is attempting to compare his appraisal with others. There are two flaws in this approach. First, while the taxpayer is certainly entitled to be appraised at no greater percentage of value than other taxpayers in Montgomery County on the basis of equalization, the assessor's proof establishes that this property is not appraised at any higher percentage of value than the level prevailing in Montgomery County for 1989 and 1990. That the taxpayer can find other properties which are more underappraised than > average does not entitle him to similar treatment. Secondly, as was the case before the administrative judge, the taxpayer has produced an impressive number of "comparables" but has not adequately indicated how the properties compare to his own in all relevant respects. . . .

Final Decision and Order at 2. See also Earl and Edith LaFollette, (Sevier County, Tax Years 1989 and 1990) (June 26, 1991), wherein the Commission rejected the taxpayer's equalization argument reasoning that "[t]he evidence of other tax-appraised values might be relevant if it indicated that properties throughout the county were underappraised . . ." Final Decision and Order at 3.

The administrative judge finds that the sale introduced by the assessor also cannot provide a reliable basis of valuation standing by itself. The administrative judge finds that the sale occurred long after January 1, 2005 and is therefore technically irrelevant. See Acme Boot Company and Ashland City Industrial Corporation (Cheatham County - Tax Year 1989) wherein the Assessment Appeals Commission ruled that "[e]vents occurring after [the assessment] date are not relevant unless offered for the limited purpose of showing that assumptions reasonably made on or before the assessment date have been borne out by subsequent events." Final Decision and Order at 3. Moreover, even if the sale was relevant, it would have to be adjusted for time and size.

The administrative judge finds that when the parties' proof is considered collectively, the preponderance of the evidence supports adoption of a value of $45,000.

ORDER

It is therefore ORDERED that the following value and assessment be adopted for tax year 2005:

LAND VALUE	IMPROVEMENT VALUE	TOTAL VALUE	ASSESSMENT
$45,000	$ -0-	$45,000	$11,250

It is FURTHER ORDERED that any applicable hearing costs be assessed pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. § 67-5-1501(d) and State Board of Equalization Rule 0600-1-.17.

Pursuant to the Uniform Administrative Procedures Act, Tenn. Code Ann. §§ 4-5-301—325, Tenn. Code Ann. § 67-5-1501, and the Rules of Contested Case Procedure of the State Board of Equalization, the parties are advised of the following remedies:

1. A party may appeal this decision and order to the Assessment Appeals Commission pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. § 67-5-1501 and Rule 0600-1-.12 of the Contested Case Procedures of the State Board of Equalization.
